WEDNESDAY EVENING, JANUARY 5.

AN ALASKA ACCOUCHMENT.—Ensign W. L. Howard, U. S. N., who recently returned with Lieut. Stoney's exploring expedition from Alaska, is at the Naval Hospital, Brooklyn, suffering from the effects of the journey of a thousand miles which he made overland from Fort Cosmos to Point Barrow. The journey was through a part of Alaska never before explored, and for a great part of the time Ensign Howard lived among natives who never before had seen a white man. The story of the hardships Ensign Howard and his party endured, should be sufficient to dampen the fever some may entertain for exploration in Alaskan wilds. He was guided by relays of natives, who, he says, have some curious customs, for instance, the manner in which they treat women, the following being a case in point: "One day, when we were making a particularly hard march, I noticed a woman who was about to become a mother and had difficulty in keeping up with the party. Suddenly the Indians halted, and some of the men dug a cave in the snow and threw some skins into it. Then they put the woman in and resumed their journey. I tried to prevent their leaving the poor creature there, but they insisted upon going on. We encamped that night about six miles from the place where we had left the woman and at 12 o'clock that night she came into camp bringing with her her new born babe. The next morning, when we started on our journey, I offered her my sledge, but neither she nor the rest of the tribe would hear of such a thing, and she trudged along contentedly with the other women all day."

Alexandria Gazette.

The GAZETTE is now the oldest paper in the State, and with few exceptions the oldest in the country, and its usefulness has been demonstrated and appreciated during the EIGHTY SEVEN YEARS of its existence. In its columns has always been found a mirror of passing events, and the careful chronicling of the history of what is going on in the world has ever been its aim. It is always welcomed in the household, while in the counting room and workshop it has become invaluable.

The GAZETTE has better facilities for obtaining news than any paper outside of the national capital. Situated as it is so close to the great centre of news, it enjoys daily the benefit of the Associated Press dispatches from every part of the world; hence its patrons can read from its columns in the evening what has transpired that day in every portion of our own domain as well as from every part of the habitable globe. Consequently it is an every day occurrence for the GAZETTE to publish telegrams from the various European capitals twelve and fifteen hours earlier than the morning papers.

Another feature that serves to make the GAZETTE a great desideratum with merchants is its afternoon market reports from New York, Baltimore, Chicago and other centres.

Correspondence from Washington, Richmond and every section of the State, is published regularly, and all events of interest occurring within the bounds of the Commonwealth are to be found in the columns of the GAZETTE.

The local department furnishes a full and complete history of everything that occurs in and near the city, and this feature will, as ever, receive careful attention.

The GAZETTE's circulation is steadily increasing, especially among people who consult its advertising columns before purchasing. That this is self-evident may be inferred from the fact that a large country edition—nearly as large as the daily—is sent all over this section of country three times a week, and is read by thousands, most of whom send here or to contiguous cities to make purchases. The advantages of advertising in the GAZETTE are, therefore, apparent.
